

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A display device for a work machine wherein the display device for displaying information is installed in the work machine in such a manner as to be directed toward outside of the work machine.